The Green Park Hotel 2019 Scottish Winter Nature Break with Russell Nisbet

This Course will comprise two indoor and two outdoor (weather permitting) sessions of two hours each. In each we will discuss Scotland's Wildlife with the emphasis being on the bird-life, although we will also touch on mammals and trees in winter - plus what to look out for in the coming spring. At the indoor sessions, there will be a tea / coffee on tap in the lounges.

The indoor sessions could include talks on 'Local Wildlife', Bird Identification Made Easy', 'Migration' or 'Bird Calls'. If the weather is pretty inclement, all sessions could be in the warmth and comfort of the hotel or we could pay a visit to bird-watching hides.

The tutor is Russell Nisbet who has spent over 20 years wardening nature reserves around Britain plus tutoring at the nearby Kindrogan Field Centre as well as being a teacher/naturalist for the Scottish Wildlife Trust at the Montrose Basin, an assessor of holiday parks for the David Bellamy Conservation Awards and leader of wildlife holidays.
